

Player Profiles – Patt & Don McConnell

Patt and Don McConnell are physicians, bridge players (and partners), and music lovers. They have been part of the Portland bridge community off and on for more than 40 years, but only in the past five years have they played frequently at clubs and tournaments; they are now regulars at the Ace of Clubs. Both Patt and Don were first exposed to the game during college – in very different parts of the country.

Patt: As a native of upstate New York, I attended the University of Rochester for both undergrad and, later, medical studies. That was in the early 1960s, when college students still played a lot of card games. Don: I grew up in Portland, graduated from Franklin, and learned a little party bridge as an undergrad the University of Oregon.

Don also attended medical school at the University of Oregon (now OHSU), then did a rotating internship at Denver General Hospital. There he met Patt, who was on a rotation at the hospital while working as an intern and later resident in pediatrics at the University of Colorado Medical Center.

Don: We married in 1969, and later that year I was drafted into the Army, headed for Vietnam. Patt: To be closer to Don, I did my second-year residency at Kapiolani Children’s Hospital in Honolulu. When he was on leave, we would play an occasional bridge game, including some duplicate.

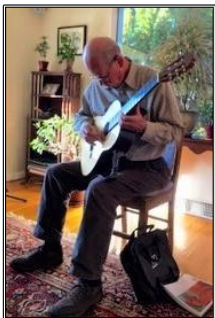

Don spent the second year of his service as a general medical officer at Ft. Knox, Kentucky; he and Patt lived on the base while she commuted to a Louisville pediatrics clinic. They wound up in Portland when Don began a surgery residency at OHSU. Both he and Patt did clinical and academic work at OHSU.

Don: After my residency I was hired at the Portland VA Medical Center, working there ever since. I have been lucky to work with students and young residents in a variety of surgical fields. I also am professor emeritus at OHSU. Patt: I was assistant professor of pediatrics at OHSU, did a fellowship at the Child Development and Rehabilitation Center, and maintained practices at both – all of which I found very rewarding.

Over the years of raising children and pursuing demanding careers, Don and Patt played occasional party bridge but no duplicate ... until about five years ago.

Patt: One day I ran into Joan Peres – our kids had attended the same school – and she suggested we try out the nonsanctioned game at the Multnomah Arts Center. Don: Soon after, we decided to get into sanctioned games, so I renewed my long-lapsed ACBL membership and was pleasantly surprised I still had my five masterpoints from way back.

Patt and Don have more time for bridge now that they no longer work full time. As professor emeritus at OHSU, Don works as a part-time consultant and attending physician on the surgery service at the VA, while Patt has enjoyed retirement since 2008. They have more time for music, too.

Patt: I always loved piano, took lessons intermittently starting in high school, and in 1982, I started a group of like-minded people who have met monthly ever since to play for one another. Don: I played clarinet in high school but did not think about music again until just a few years ago when I picked up an old classical guitar that was once our son’s. I’ve studied a lot since then and even play an occasional recital. We both enjoy concerts at Marylhurst and Lewis & Clark.

As for bridge, Patt and Don agree that a married partnership can be challenging, but the rewards of their partnership and the game itself are more than worth it.

Patt: Don is more competitive, likes to bring in more conventions, while I am more cautious, but we do well at working through disagreements. Don: I like the competition, but the best thing for me is how the game forces you to keep on thinking. That’s good for us old folks.

SCHEDULE

OBTY publishes on the 1st of February, April, June, August, October, and December. Submissions for a given issue are due by the 20th of the previous month.

FROM YOUR UNIT BOARD

At our Apr. 19 meeting, we welcomed new board members Kristin Steinmetz and George O'Leary and elected officers: Nancy Jonske, president; Jan Clemmons, secretary; Ron Root, partnership; Nancy Swanson, hospitality; and Kristin and George, I/N co-chairs. Alan Johnson stays on as tournament manager and Mike Eyer is our representative to District 20.

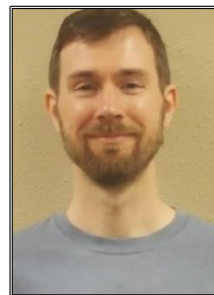

We agreed to appoint a new treasurer and an additional board member and will soon announce the names of those filling the positions. We also agreed to the scheduling of the next series of Caitlin Gabel classes (to volunteer, contact Nancy Jonske, 503-502-6960), and were pleased to report that our Election Party was so well attended we may have to seek a larger venue for next year. We were also pleased to announce that the updated Unit 487 website, including an easily searchable member directory, went live Apr. 1. Note that the URL has changed. (See listing at lower left and note also that the directory requires a password, which was distributed by email; if you did not receive yours yet, contact chriswiegandpdx@gmail.com.)

MEMBER MILESTONES

Sixteen candles (plus a few) and sixteen tables were on hand at the Ace of Clubs Apr. 5 to honor Ethel Birnbach on her 90th birthday. Ethel, the first woman to be licensed as a structural engineer in Portland, was part of the teams responsible for the Portland International Airport and OHSU, among other landmarks. She also has played bridge in Portland since 1948 and at the Ace since its inception. Happy birthday, Ethel!

David Castles, popular bridge instructor at the Portland Bridge Club, has a new job title. Effective Jul. 1, he joins Linda Wiener and Dave Brower as a partner and manager of the business, and will expand his teaching role as well. David, a Maryland native who comes to Portland by way of Atlanta, taught high-school science for 20 years, the last 15 of them at Clackamas High School. For now, he will do all his teaching at PBC.

"I will miss the high-school classroom, but I find teaching bridge to adults very rewarding," David says. "My favorite part is seeing the students' pleasure when they apply their learning – make a good sacrifice, bid a good slam, take a good line of play. I look forward to developing more learning opportunities at PBC and welcome everyone's ideas for topics to focus on." You can reach David at davidc@portlandbridgeclub.com.
